Perfectly Maggie: A Sleepytime Story

Experts agree that self-esteem develops in early childhood. Because parents and loved ones want to give their children the gift of positive self-esteem ... there's Perfectly Maggie®!

E3Publishing is excited to launch a brand-new product this fall, Perfectly Maggie® which has won Creative Child Magazine's 2017 BOOK of the year award!

Meg Maguire, the award-winning author of Perfectly Maggie®, worked with a renowned Pediatrician/Child Psychiatrist from the University of Pennsylvania, to design the nightly sharing game scripted into the story. She wanted to fortify her children with healthy self-esteem at an early age. Meg believed positive self-esteem could act as a protective armor against the challenges life might present. And, it worked so well! Her children are now successful professional adults, raising children of their own. The story of Perfectly Maggie® establishes the same nightly routine Meg and her children enjoyed. Signing the "Puppy Pact" at the end of the book creates a heartwarming memory keepsake of when your own sharing game first began.

Maggie is anything but perfect in the conventional sense. But, her imperfections are out-shined by her heart of gold. Eight other pups join Maggie in Kind More Kennel®, each with a unique personality. Maggie inspires her pals to be true to themselves ... that their individual "quirks can turn into perks!" With her lively tail wagging, Maggie promotes kindness in Kind More Kennel®, too. She teaches the puppies to feel good about themselves by being helpful, kind, and polite. Nine delightful pup personalities assure plenty of adventures to follow this outstanding introductory book!

Award-winning illustrator, Josie Yee, masterfully brings this 26-page storyboard book to life. Josie also illustrated the bonus pop-up booklet to be used after the nightly sharing game. With a wag of Maggie's tail, this darling booklet helps parents applaud their child's success. Perfectly Maggie® with the adorable 7" plush and bonus pop-up booklet is sure to become a treasured bedtime classic.

Promote Kindness, Share Special Moments, Create Beautiful Memories!

Because every child deserves healthy self-esteem and because children love puppies and possibilities ...

there's Perfectly Maggie®!
